2. On 16 November 1954, the road from Puttgarten to Arkona was barred by a barbed-wire fence erected about 50 meters in front of the lighthouse. The hotel, located about 100 meters northwest of the lighthouse, was still inhabited by civilians. A wooden watchtower, about 15 meters high, was located east of the lighthouse looking toward the sea. A similar tower was located on the coast about 500 meters southeast of the lighthouse on the off-side of the old rampart of the castle. The two towers were manned by one soldier each. No other soldiers were observed in the environs of Arkona.
